IOBC-WPRS Meeting of the Working Group

“Integrated Protection in Viticulture”

INTEGRATED PROTECTION
IN VITICULTURE

5-8 November 2019

Vila Real, Portugal

Second announcement

Welcome note

Dear colleagues,

We are pleased to invite you to the Joint Meeting of the IOBC/WPRS Working Group "Integrated Protection in Viticulture", that will take place at Vila Real, Portugal, from 5 to 8 November 2019; more information is available at the meeting website: <http://iobcwprsmeeing2019.admeus.pt/>. This international conference aims to bring together scientists, researchers, students and consultants working on biological control and integrated protection in viticulture. This conference offers opportunities to share ideas and to discuss current research findings.

Plant protection in viticulture is matter of discussion due to the undesirable effects of pesticide use on human health and the environment. EU has launched various measures to reduce negative impacts of intensive management practices and to promote the transition towards more ecologically-based pest management methods. Research in this field is producing excellent results but their translation into the practice is still challenging.

The Symposium will be organized under the auspices of the International Organization for Biological and Integrated Control (IOBC) by the Associação para o Desenvolvimento da Viticultura Duriense (ADVID). The official language of the conference is English.

We invite participants to attend this conference and to present their latest research results.

We look forward to seeing you in Vila Real,

Sincerely,

Carlo Duso
